The Cosmetic, Toiletry And Fragrance Association Of Malaysia

Code of Conduct for Members

This Code embodies CTFA values and sets forth the principles to guide the Members' behavior. It is important for each of the Members to fully understand these principles and to commit themselves to the principles in all of the Association activities.

Principle Commitments:

1. From a moral and ethical point of view, each Member shall exercise professional accountability.
2. Members shall not disclose proprietary or confidential information about CTFA and/or matters relating to CTFA, to any unauthorized parties through any means of communication.
3. Members shall not use confidential information gained through their official position for the purpose of securing a private benefit for themselves or for any other person.
4. Each Member shall maintain professionalism when communicating with fellow Board and CTFA members.

I hereby confirm that I understand and agree with the CTFA Code of Conduct for Members.
